

CITY Attorney O'Toole of San Francisco thinks he has found a way of getting the straw vote on the Volstead act on the city ballot, under a provision of the San Francisco charter authorizing the supervisors to call for a declaration of public opinion on any issue. There would, of course, be no such power on general principles, in the absence of a specific authorization in the charter, and it is exceedingly doubtful if the court will find that even this provision can stand the interpretation suggested.

Certainly the only purpose, and therefore the presumable meaning, of such a charter provision is that the supervisors may ask the advice of the people as to their own actions. They would thus be limited to those questions on which they could take the action advised. Certainly, if the power to ask advice extends to any question whatever, it would include the right to take the opinion of the people of San Francisco on the freedom of Ireland or the dictatorship of Mussolini. They have as much jurisdiction over these questions as they have over the acts of Congress.

ADDITIONAL air liners are being put on the airplane service from London to the Continent, to accommodate an increasing traffic composed largely of American tourists.

If the patronage of the few Americans who go abroad can maintain a modern air service in Europe, why can not the patronage of the millions who stay at home support a like service in America? We have the distances, far greater than those of Europe, and the time of a business man at home is certainly more valuable than that of a vacationer abroad. American enterprise will establish air lines if they pay. They will pay if they are patronized.

SURELY such a question as a mere change in the rules of procedure of the Senate ought to be capable of calm and dispassionate debate. But not when it is a change which senators think affects their precious personal dignity. On that point they are sensitive to the point of anger. They resent the impertinence of a mere upstart outsider, like the Vice-President of the United States, giving advice to grave and reverend senators on their own business. They are angry at any proposal that the Senate shall have power to override a senator. Minority groups which know they will never be majorities cling to the rules which enable a minority to prevent action. And all of them proudly submit to the situation which compels them, in planning the close of the present session, to omit many measures which the majority favor, some of which are sorely needed. They are angry only at innovation, decision, efficiency and majority rule.

THE Fundamentalists should demand a law to censor the Associated Press. For here is a dispatch from Peking about finding many ancient bones "including ancestors of many present-day animals."

Does not the press agency know that this is against the law? Present-day animals have no ancestors. They were specially and separately created, in comparatively recent times. Before them were other species, slightly different, who perished, leaving no descendants. All the animals of the original creation proved unable to survive on earth. Their species all became extinct, leaving no descendants. Then followed a new special creation of others, slightly different, who met the same fate. The process continued, through a thousand separate and unrelated special creations, until now, when it has stopped. When a modern species becomes extinct, like the dodo or the passenger pigeon, no new one is created in its place. The compacted ancient soils are full of the bones of millions of creatures, all of species of which no descendant now lives, while the surface of the earth is populated by a new creation of different species, not one of which existed in the earlier ages, nor is descended from any which did. Nearly all the species which ever inhabited the earth are extinct, and not one of the living species has been here long. There is no relation between them, and no reason for their similarities, nor for the regular series of slight variations between them and their predecessors.

You may explain the facts in this unrelated way all you like. It is against the law in Tennessee to explain them in any orderly and natural way, and if you do so in California the rules of the state board of education require you to do it as a theory, and not as a fact. This inhibition, according to the official instruction of one school board, extends to the private conversations of teachers, outside of school.

If it is forbidden to explain these things in schools, where all the evidence can be assembled, why tolerate it in press dispatches, as a mere unsupported assertion on a single fact? Surely, if religion is menaced by a school boy's concluding that the ancient lions were the ancestors of the modern ones, it would be destroyed utterly by the same statement in a thousand newspapers.

Chester Rowell
Reaches Hawaii

HONOLULU, June 16.—Chester Rowell, noted California economist, was here today with pronounced declarations on conditions on the mainland. Rowell declared that prohibition Cooldige's popularity in California is unabated, that the Democrats have no chance to elect a president in 1928 unless there is a radical change in conditions, and that the international future of the United States is definitely linked with the world count.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Arrangements were being made today for the burial, probably in Pasadena or the east, of Mrs. Portia Sweet, 40, who late yesterday called her husband's office, left word that "he'd better come, right now," and fired a bullet into her brain.

Mrs. Sweet, wife of James G. Sweet, a bond broker, with prominent family connections in Pasadena and the east, was socially and educationally prominent in the bay district.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Prior to her marriage, she was a faculty member of several bay district high schools. Her maiden name was Portia Coolidge, and she was a member of the Coolidge family association of Massachusetts.

She is survived in addition to her husband, by a daughter, Priscilla Jacob, by a previous marriage.

NERVOUS

The so-called nervous diseases are by no means the only disorders that can be traced to pressure on nerves. If you have always had strong nerves you will find it difficult to sympathize with people who are nervous, cross and irritable. But people afflicted with nervous diseases suffer as much as those who have physical disorders.

When your nerves are out of order any of the vital organs may be affected. Since they are all directly under the control of the nerves. Heart Palpitation, Indigestion, Kidney Trouble, Lumbo, Sciatica and many other uncomfortable and dangerous diseases would be relieved if the nerves could be brought to perform the function that nature intended they should.

We, as Palmer X-Ray Chiropractors, have made a special study of the spine and nervous system and realize the importance of keeping the nerves free from pressure in order to have and maintain a healthy body. Many individuals think that because we work exclusively on the spine we cannot correct any particular condition of sickness or trouble, not realizing that every part of the body receives its power of function or life directly from the nerves. Our work is to find these pinched nerves which are causing your trouble, and with our hands alone, in a very careful manner, without pain, remove this pressure. We do not use medicine, surgery, osteopathy, massage, electric ray, electronic reaction, or any other adjunct. Only our hands upon your spine. We do not twist your head, pull your legs or use hammers. If you are not well, make use of the coupon below.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

You must become the servant of your prayers. That for which you ask God will largely be answered through you.

You must not be made brave, you must become so; you cannot be hypnotized into faith, you must make the venture; you cannot be given up for God and devotion to His will; you must live into it step by step.

Voice your highest aspiration to your Father, asking for strength and courage and patience; then set yourself diligently to manifest that the answer is increasingly becoming a reality.

BLANKEN—Elise Blanken, aged 61 years, passed away at the family home on Wassa avenue, Tustin, June 16. Announcement of her death was made later by the Winship Mission Funeral Home. She is survived by her husband, Herman Blanken, three sons, John, Albert and Herman, all of whom are deceased; Mrs. Knott, of Orange. She had been a resident of this district for some six years.

BRASCH—June 14th, 1926, Mrs. Edith R. Brasch, aged 35 years. Funeral services will be held Thursday, June 17th, at 8:30 p. m. from Smith & Tuthill Chapel. Rev. Wm. E. Roberts officiating. Interment at Fairhaven cemetery.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's hero—“Red” Faber, White Sox pitcher, who held the Senators to five hits and then won his own game, 4 to 1, when he cracked a double that scored three runs.

Walberg shut out the Indians while the Athletics were gathering five runs, and Philadelphia pushed Cleveland to fourth place.

Nineteen players were put into the game by Manager Cobb and Detroit managed to squeeze out a 7 to 6 victory over the Red Sox in the ninth inning.

New York took its third straight game from Cincinnati 3 to 2. The league-leading Reds now have lost nine of their 12 last games.

NEW TEACHERS FIX WHEATLEY APPOINTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Resignations and appointments of teachers; final arrangements for summer repairs; and consideration of rules and regulations for operation of the new gymnasium and swimming pool were among matters taken up at a special meeting of the city board of education, held last night in the board rooms.

Resignations acted upon included those of Elizabeth H. Wanzer, assistant librarian in the high school and junior college, and Kathleen Carroll, of the Americanization department. Miss Wanzer is considering an offer from the Los Angeles city schools and Miss Carroll has accepted an attractive offer from the Long Beach city school system.

New teachers elected last night to fill vacancies were as follows:

Junior high grades—Ferris H. Scott, physical education and general subjects; Clara Manns, English department.

Elementary grades—Ethel Birdzillie, Iva W. Kellogg and Florence Rorabough.

Kindergarten—Mildred Hilliard.

Trustee Ed. T. McFadden, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, and Trustee Dr. Roy S. Horton, member of the committee, were directed to take full charge and supervise all summer repairs, as set forth in the list submitted by the principals of the various schools.

The need for closer supervision of contract work on buildings and grounds was emphasized in connection with a report that the swimming pool, now under construction in the new gymnasium building, has a rough surface, when it should have been smooth, to comply with sanitary requirements. It was directed that the necessary alteration be made and that the expense involved be charged to the architect.

Past Matrons' Association of Hermosa Chapter—One o'clock luncheon Thursday, June 17, Masonic temple.

Those unable to attend are requested to phone 312M.

Justin Pythian Sisters—Regular meeting Thursday evening, June 17, 8 o'clock, El Camino hall. Following the business session there will be a social hour with cards.

Past Matrons' Association of Hermosa Chapter—One o'clock luncheon Thursday, June 17, Masonic temple.

Those unable to attend are requested to phone 312M.

Elementary grades—Ethel Birdzillie, Iva W. Kellogg and Florence Rorabough.

Kindergarten—Mildred Hilliard.

Trustee Ed. T. McFadden, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, and Trustee Dr. Roy S. Horton, member of the committee, were directed to take full charge and supervise all summer repairs, as set forth in the list submitted by the principals of the various schools.

The need for closer supervision of contract work on buildings and grounds was emphasized in connection with a report that the swimming pool, now under construction in the new gymnasium building, has a rough surface, when it should have been smooth, to comply with sanitary requirements. It was directed that the necessary alteration be made and that the expense involved be charged to the architect.

Union Gasoline

Non-detonating

Union Gasoline provides, and always has provided to Western motorists, the non-detonating feature which supplies full power to the pistons throughout their entire stroke and eliminates all explosive "knocking" or "pinging" on the hills or in heavy pulling—a quality for which Eastern motorists are now buying "special gasolines" and paying 3 cents per gallon in excess of usual prices for them. Yet Union costs no more than other high grade fuels.

Always use Aristo Motor Oil with non-detonating Union Gasoline because this combination minimizes carbon to the extent that motors in good condition are run for several years without it.

IVY PLANTING WILL BE NEW CUSTOM INTRODUCED BY 1926 POLY HIGH GRADUATING CLASS

A new custom is to be introduced by students of the graduating class in Santa Ana polytechnic high school, who will plant English ivy on the north side of Andrews gymnasium as part of the class day exercises to be held tomorrow.

Miss Evelyn Yount, president of the class, will preside over the ceremony, to be held at 1 o'clock.

The ivy planting will be the first event on the elaborate program, arranged by the senior class. The student body assembly, at 1:30 p.m., will be devoted to the seniors in the reading of the will and prophecy.

Principal D. K. Hammond will turn a spade of dirt at the ivy planting to inaugurate the senior class custom. There will be a trombone solo played by Oscar Area, and an appropriate poem will be read. Miss Evelyn Yount will charge Judson Riley, as president of the junior class, to care for the ivy and continue the custom.

Invitation has been extended to the public to attend the class day exercises, to be held in the high school auditorium.

An interesting number on the program will be the class prophecy. The stage will take the form of a news office and all the fame and notoriety of the graduates will be learned as the accounts of the activities of the class members come through the news channels.

Miss Mydas Capps will act as city editor in the news office. Others on the editorial staff will be Oscar Area, Lois Green, Howard Youel, Lohr Bauer, Cleo Chambliss and Lillian Odisha. The gift of the senior class to the school will be presented by Miss Evelyn Yount. By the decision of the class, a show case for trophies, won by the school, will be placed inside the main entrance of the administration building as the gift of the graduates of 1926.

Among other features on the program will be band numbers, directed by S. J. Mustol; songs, by the music students, and an interpretive dance, by Miss Chalma Lindsey.

The program will be as follows:

March and selections—high school band.

Songs—Mary Etta Piper, Lorene Matney and Marie McDonald.

Senior class will—Melvin Harter. Interpretive dance—Chalma Lindsey.

Oriental medley—Boys' Glee club.

Class poem—Frances Forsey.

Presentation of the class gift—Miss Evelyn Yount, senior class president.

Saxophone trio selections—Orest Clafonti, Clayton Lowell and Harold Fish.

Senior class prophecy.

Class song, written by Miss Muriel Knox.

March—high school band.

ENGINEERS ARE TAKEN THROUGH STEAM PLANT

A number of members of Santa Ana local No. 4, National Association of Steam Engineers, were among the 90 men and women of locals in Los Angeles and Long Beach, who last night visited and inspected the steam plant of the Southern California Edison company, Long Beach.

The visitors were taken through the big plant in groups of 10, with guides furnished by the Long Beach local pointing out various features of the plant.

The Long Beach plant consists of the old unit, built in 1925, and the unit under construction and scheduled for completion the latter part of July. The size of the units and the number of pieces of equipment was indicated by the fact that it took three hours for a group to go through all the units.

H. R. Howell, member of the Santa Ana local, today pointed out that the association is formed largely for the purpose of educating its members in steam plant equipment and operation and that one night a week is devoted to visitation by members to some steam plant.

LANNED AS their final hospitality for the club year, members of Ebell's music section and their leader, Miss Leonora Tompkins, extended a friendly hospitality Monday night at the auditorium of the clubhouse, where they presented a program of adjoining to the adjoining peacock room where refreshments of cake and ice cream were served.

The stage was decked with flowers forming a colorful scene in which moved the talented folk who presented the program. Mrs. C. E. Mullens of Redlands was introduced as speaker of the evening and imbued the audience with her own enthusiasm as she talked on her experiences in organizing the Community Music Association of her city.

Redlands is fortunate in having a splendid amphitheater which is called the Community Bowl, and where concerts are given to audiences comprising every music lover in the city. One of their chief values, according to the enthusiastic patron, is in the fact that they bring music to the laboring classes, for the experience of the association has been that the concerts attract every class from the cultured folk of the city to the day laborers; even the Mexicans and the large negro population of the city, are ardent devotees.

"The harmony between classes, engendered by community singing, could be made a decided factor in world peace," declared Mrs. Mullens. Incidentally, she has announced that Miss Marcella Craft, just returned from two years' study in Munich, is to begin a series of 24 Bowl entertainments on Friday night, June 18. These will be given twice a week for the next three months, and promise to attract even more music lovers to the Bowl to hear the sweet singer.

Mrs. Mullens was a guest while in the city of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Hays, 2103 North Broadway.

Following her on the program was the city's Tunison Peck, one of the city's accomplished pianists who gave a piano group. Gladys Simpson Shaffer then presented a charming musical pastime with Miss Nelle Mai Chapman at the piano and Miss Chalma Lindsay giving the interpretative dances.

Madame Leontine Redon, captivated her audience anew with her songs and was followed by an amusing one-act play, "The Very Naked Boy," presented by a group of young people from the high school, Miss Mabel Pruitt, Melvin McClain and Edward Perry.

The social interval and refreshment hour was marked by expressions of appreciation showered on Miss Tompkins for the delightful program planned. Section members expressed their feelings in a huge basket of colorful flowers, sent to their leader who is retiring after having directed the section through three successful and interesting years.

Offers Setting for Beautiful Wedding

XQUISITE in the cool charm of green smilax and snowy wed blossoms of feverfew and Queen Anne's lace amidst which countless waxen tapers twinkled, the altar of the First Presbyterian church last night formed the background for a charming wedding, that of Miss Ruth Mae Thomas, daughter of Judge and Mrs. W. H. Thomas, and Robert La Verne Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Smith.

The ceremony was at 8 o'clock, and guests were ushered to their seats by a group composed of Messrs. John Heath, Claude Bolton, Clarence Smith and James Thomas. The pews reserved for the relatives were marked by garlands of white and clusters of Shasta daisies. A lace and tulle veil formed a close little cap over her dark hair, with a band of orange blossoms across her forehead. Her flowers were bride roses showered with sweet peas.

After her father had surrendered her to the keeping of the bride-groom and the impressive ceremony was ended, young Mr. and Mrs. Smith and the members of their bridal party lingered in the adjoining rooms of the church to greet their friends. Decorations of hydrangeas were in evidence, and the bevy of charming bridesmaids served ices and wedding cake.

Judge and Mrs. Thomas received with the young people as did Mr. and Mrs. Smith, parents of the groom, and also his grandmother, a charming little old lady. Mrs. Thomas wore a beautiful gown of peach georgette headed with seed pearls.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Smith will enjoy a honeymoon in the Yosemite as a wedding gift from the bride's father. Mrs. Smith will travel in a smart little checked tan suit with all dress accessories in brown. Upon their return they will make their home in this city and Mr. Smith will resume his place with the Fourth Street Market.

ONDAY night offered a gala occasion at the Masonic temple when Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., was hostess chapter to officers of all eight chapters of the district, at cards and dancing following the stated session at 8 o'clock.

The scene was a beautiful one, since an efficient decorating committee under Mrs. George Prather, had transformed the chapter room into an immense drawing room by the lavish use of gladioli and dahlias, together with many handsome floor lamps and a profusion of flags, honoring Flag Day. Matrons and patrons of 1926 were escorted to the east with much ceremony, there to be greeted by the Santa Ana worthy matron, Mrs. Elizabeth Jernigan and patron, Elion R. Roehm.

Mrs. Caroline Carter, district deputy, offered an eloquent address of welcome and other brief talks followed, especially interesting ones being given by the matron and patron of Eastgate chapter, Los Angeles. Other friendly talks were by Mrs. Carrie Drake, grand organist and Mrs. Elsie Buchanan, president of the matrons' association.

Chapter was closed at 9 o'clock and immediately the card tables were arranged for half a hundred players while the others sought the ballroom. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Roberts and Mrs. Jessie Overton had charge of the games, decreeing court whist as the lively amusement. A pair of pretty hand-painted plates rewarded Mrs. Sherman Gillogly of Orange, for high score and Miss Little Stowe received single plate as consolation.

Among the men, Mr. Gillogly, patron of the Orange chapter, won first prize, a keytarine, and C. E. Harberson won a deck of cards as consolation.

Mrs. Mullens was a guest while in the city of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Hays, 2103 North Broadway.

Following her on the program was the city's Tunison Peck, one of the city's accomplished pianists who gave a piano group. Gladys Simpson Shaffer then presented a charming musical pastime with Miss Nelle Mai Chapman at the piano and Miss Chalma Lindsay giving the interpretative dances.

Madame Leontine Redon, captivated her audience anew with her songs and was followed by an amusing one-act play, "The Very Naked Boy," presented by a group of young people from the high school, Miss Mabel Pruitt, Melvin McClain and Edward Perry.

The social interval and refreshment hour was marked by expressions of appreciation showered on Miss Tompkins for the delightful program planned. Section members expressed their feelings in a huge basket of colorful flowers, sent to their leader who is retiring after having directed the section through three successful and interesting years.

Aiding Mrs. Prather in decking chapter and ball room for the party, were Mr. and Mrs. Elion Roehm, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, Mrs. W. R. Sylvester, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker and Mrs. Sam Jernigan.

Fidelas Class

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent recently by the Fidelas class of the First Baptist church, with Mrs. A. R. Marshall, 1212 North Ross street. Little garments were made and gifts extended to one of the members for a near future occasion. Delicious home-made candy was served by the hostess.

Matron, Mrs. W. H. Schlaack, (Miss Marie Thomas) sister of the bride.

Her gown was of rose georgette worn with silver slippers, and the band encircling her head was fastened with a spray of silver fruit.

Her flowers were similar to those carried by the bridesmaids.

W. H. Hall in ruffled blue organdy, was an exquisite flower girl.

Miss Thomas entered on the arm of her father, Judge Thomas.

She was a girlishly lovely bride in her gown of soft crepe satin elaborately beaded with pearls and rhinestones.

A lace and tulle veil formed a close little cap over her dark hair, with a band of orange blossoms across her forehead.

Her flowers were bride roses showered with sweet peas.

After her father had surrendered her to the keeping of the bride-groom and the impressive ceremony was ended, young Mr. and Mrs. Smith and the members of their bridal party lingered in the adjoining rooms of the church to greet their friends.

Decorations of hydrangeas were in evidence, and the bevy of charming bridesmaids served ices and wedding cake.

Judge and Mrs. Thomas received with the young people as did Mr. and Mrs. Smith, parents of the groom, and also his grandmother, a charming little old lady.

Mrs. Thomas wore a beautiful gown of peach georgette headed with seed pearls.

Young Mr. and Mrs. Smith will enjoy a honeymoon in the Yosemite as a wedding gift from the bride's father.

Mrs. Smith will travel in a smart little checked tan suit with all dress accessories in brown.

Upon their return they will make their home in this city and Mr. Smith will resume his place with the Fourth Street Market.

Final Pretty Party
Ere Marriage of Popular Girl

S A final gayety complimenting Miss Ruth Mae Thomas prior to her wedding to Robert La Verne Smith, was the bride tea and gift shower given last Saturday afternoon by Miss May Pierce, one of her bridesmaids, at the F. O. Pierce home on Freeman avenue.

Card tables were arranged amidst a profusion of garden flowers, and an interesting session of bridge yielded attractive prizes for Miss Katherine Williams, scoring high and Miss Lucille Gates, low.

The shower feature of the party was during the interval following the games, when the guests were asked to the dining-room. There the big table was centered with a dainty bride, and banked around her were flowers and countless fascinating packages. These contained a variety of lovely things for the future home of the honor guest, Miss Thomas.

While the gifts were being examined, Miss Pierce, aided by her mother and sister, Mrs. F. O. Pierce and Mrs. Carl Black, substituted attractive linens for the card-table covers and centered each table with Shasta daisies in readiness to serve a delicious two-course tea menu.

Enjoying the hospitality of the afternoon with the hostess and her honor guest, were the Misses Irene Natland, Laura Anderson, Muriel Jerome, Geraldine Franklin, Marion Preston, Leora Fernandez, Melvina Frye, Lucille Gates, Florence Walters, Katherine Pierce, Mesdames Carl Black, Clarence Smith, Marie Schlaack, of Glendale; Katherine Williams, W. H. Thomas and F. O. Pierce.

Guest will bring supper and table service for her own party. Several Shrine families intend to pool their baskets, and in fact all kinds of plans are afoot to add to the entertainment of the hour.

After supper the Nobles will advance upon the pavilion, and indications are that they will succeed in taking it, and all join in an evening of dancing. Reservations should be made at an early date through the secretary, Noble Herbert O. Davis or the president.

WATER SUPPLY OF CITY PURE, SAYS PRESSON

Tests of Santa Ana municipal water are being made twice a week by the county health department and the water is free of contamination, according to a statement made yesterday, at the Exchange club meeting, by Dr. G. V. Presson, county health officer and health officer for Santa Ana.

The declaration as made in response to a question asked the physician at the conclusion of an address on the operations of the county health department.

Declaring that the unit system of operation of the department is something new in California, Dr. Presson said that eight counties of the state now have full time health officers and forces.

Pointing out that public health is concerned principally with the extension of the average of human life, the health officer said that the department of inspectors is one of the most important departments in a county or city health organization.

Unsanitary conditions, he said, lead up to many of the diseases inflicting humans, and he stressed the value of the service of inspectors in detecting and forcing rectification of unsanitary conditions, which are disease breeders.

He emphasized the point that the health department does not treat individuals and that prescriptions are not issued by the department. Giving advice and making recommendation as to treatments are the principal features of the department.

Dr. Roy M. Fortier was program chairman.

Arrangements were made for organization of an indoor baseball team, to represent the club in a contest announced as a feature of the picnic program, the Exchange club of Huntington Park is to give in Orange County park Sunday afternoon. Stanley Clem was named team captain.

Release Autoist Arrested After Traveling Slowly

CHICAGO, June 16.—"What's all the hurry?" asked Joseph P. Hickey, who was in the speeders court to answer a charge of "speeding."

He had been arrested because he was driving on a crowded thoroughfare at eight miles an hour. Other motorists were exasperated because they had to turn out to pass him or follow his slow gait. So they caused his arrest. Lacking any other charge, the police booked him for "speeding."

"My brakes were not working well," Hickey explained to Judge Padden.

"I can see no crime in driving at the rate of eight miles an hour," said Judge Padden. "Charges are dismissed."

Establishment of Garden City for Jews Is Planned

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Plans are under way for the establishment of a "garden city" as a suburb of Jerusalem for the accommodation of 6000 Jews who have returned to Palestine from various communities, according to announcement by Louis B. Mayer.

Mayer is chairman in this section of the United States Jewish Appeal campaign, designed to raise millions of dollars for the relief of immigrants.

Millions of Jews are said to face near starvation in eastern Europe. The establishment of "garden cities" in Palestine will be made possible, according to Mayer, by the funds expected to be obtained in America through the United Jewish Appeal. California Jews are taking an active part in the movement, Mayer said.

William H. Spurgeon Jr., president of the Community Chest of Santa Ana and Tustin, today appointed the following standing committees, according to an announcement by Roland E. Dye, executive secretary of the chest organization:

Budget committee, to pass on the various estimates of funds to be submitted by participating agencies—W. V. Whitton, chairman; B. A. Crawford (Tustin), O. H. Barr, G. K. Scovel, A. C. Bowers and George Dunton.

Publicity committee, to outline plans for newspaper and other publicity, preparatory to the launching of the annual campaign for funds—O. N. Robertson, chairman; Will S. Kellogg, Sam Hurwitz and Miss Hazel Bensus.

Auditing committee, to pass upon all accounts—Raymond D. Crenshaw and Albert H. T. Taylor, Santa Ana accountants.

These committees will begin functioning immediately following the directors' meeting, set for next Friday morning, when campaign plans and budget matters will be taken up for discussion.

look at each other.

A. D. Savage, a former New York policeman, Magee's bodyguard, placed his chair directly behind Magee. Savage occasionally turned around to look over the spectators.

Mrs. Magee, who arrived here from Iowa, last night, occupied one of the emergency green benches that were placed between the regular seats for the public and the court railing. She was accompanied by her daughter, Gertrude, and Dr. and Mrs. Meacham, two close friends.

Women in Courtroom

More women were in attendance than at any other session, most of them being Anglo-Americans who journeyed from East Las Vegas.

With the aid of a large map of the hotel lobby, which was held before the jury by Hunker, Wheaton gave a graphic description of the fight and the subsequent shooting. He said Magee and Leahy were about two and one-half feet apart when the editor first fired.

"It all happened so quickly," Wheaton said. "That it is hard to tell what happened."

Judge Armijo fastened his eyes on Wheaton during the testimony and rested his head on the soft red portiers behind his desk.

Wheaton talked in a rather low tone and most of the spectators leaned forward with hand to ear to catch every word.

He said he was with Leahy for 30 minutes prior to the shooting.

Under Cross-Examination

He was then turned over to J. S. Vaught, Magee's chief counsel, for cross-examination.

"Where were you and Judge Leahy before the shooting?" Vaught asked.

"Leahy came to my place and we talked for 30 minutes and after a short automobile ride, we stopped at the hotel," Wheaton said.

The witness said Magee's name was not mentioned by either him or Leahy before they went to the hotel.

"Why did you go to the hotel?"

"To transact some business."

"Who with?"

"Judge Leahy," Wheaton said.

There were too many persons around his shop for him to talk with Leahy, so they decided to go to the hotel.

Vaught, a man with dark gray piercing eyes, fingered a pencil during his questioning.

Conversation at Hotel

Upon arriving at the hotel, Wheaton said, he and Leahy met S. H. W. Kelly and held a short conversation.

"Leahy said to Kelly, 'Is that Magee over there?'" Wheaton continued.

"I said I didn't believe it was."

"Well, I'll find out," Wheaton quoted Leahy as saying.

"What was Leahy's condition?" Vaught asked.

"About normal when he walked toward Magee. His pace increased as he approached him," Wheaton replied, and the crowd roared.

FIGURES SHOW
VALUATION IN
ORANGE COUNTYAssessment Now 5 Times
As Great As When Collector Entered OfficeSLEEPER BRINGS
ABOUT CHANGESPlacing of Proper Burden Upon Oil Companies Big Factor in Equalization

Nearing completion of his annual property valuation, County Assessor James Sleeper today made public figures showing the tremendous growth of Orange county's assessment and its attendant collection activities, now the largest of any county in the state, excepting only Los Angeles.

Due to reforms accomplished by Sleeper since he started his administration 16 years ago, particularly with the reference to distributing a proper burden of taxation to the oil industry, Orange county's assessed valuation has multiplied five times, while the assessment of the oil industry has multiplied 90 times.

This is shown in comparative valuation figures. In 1910 the total assessed valuation of Orange county was $30,597,532 while this year it is approximately $166,799,719, the official figure of 1925. The oil industry, including 231 wells with real estate, was assessed $457,985 in 1910, when Sleeper came into office. This year, the county's 1181 wells with real estate will be assessed at approximately $45,000.

These figures indicate, as Sleeper states, that the assessed valuation this year will be approximately the same as last year. Sleeper's collections of unsecured personal property taxes also will be about the same as last year, the figure being above $900,000. No other county assessor in the state, outside of Los Angeles county, collects as much as Sleeper.

Growth Is Shown

Something of the growth of the assessment business in this county is shown in the comparison of individual assessments for 1910 and the present. In 1910, there were 13,696 assessments. In 1925, the total had reached 50,715 and this year it is estimated that there will be 53,500 individual assessments, which means that the number of property owners in the county has multiplied four times in 16 years.

Another evidence of growth is found in the collections of unsecured personal property, which were $14,338 in 1910 and $916,000 in 1925.

There were 15,000 transfers of property in the county during 1925, the assessor's records show, proving that real estate activity was anything but slack.

Seller exemptions, introduced in 1915, numbered 385 that year, with a valuation of $258,910. This year there will be 2483 individual exemption claims, aggregating a value of $1,323,580.

While the ratio of assessed valuation in relation to full market value of property, employed by Sleeper, is about the lowest in the state, being partially responsible for the fact that Orange county taxes are low in comparison to those of other counties, the assessor's chief reform since he took office has been the reorganization and equalization of oil industry assessments.

At present, the oil industry is

ONLY TEACHERS
OF EXPERIENCE
WILL BE HIREDInstructors Who Have Not Taught Previously to Be Barred from Junior High

Hereafter none but experienced teachers, carefully selected as to their training, personality and general fitness, will be employed in the junior high schools, it was announced today by J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools.

According to Cranston, inexperienced teachers, fresh from teachers' colleges and universities, have been tried out in the city's junior high schools, with results that have not been altogether satisfactory.

In this connection, he explained that new teachers, graduates from normal schools, teachers' colleges and universities, may be employed to some advantage in the lower elementary grades, and in the senior high school, where personality and teaching experience, including ability to maintain discipline, are less required than in the intermediate grades.

Backbone of System
Cranston went on to explain that, contrary to general belief, the teachers in the junior high school grades are the backbone of the public school system. They are carrying the heaviest load and are entrusted with the most important work. In order to obtain satisfactory results, they must not only be classed as competent and experienced instructors, but must rate above the general average in personality, training, and general fitness, the school man asserted.

As a result, Cranston continued, one of the biggest problems now facing school executives is the increasing difficulty of securing desirable teachers for these exacting grades.

Supplementing the views expressed by leading school men throughout the country, Cranston believes that salaries of junior high school and continuation teachers should be increased in order to compare favorably with those paid in the senior high schools.

Teachers Quit Junior High
He further observed that, because of the difference in salaries and easier work, the best teachers in the junior high schools transfer to the senior grades as soon as given an opportunity.

Causes for this condition he summarized as follows:

Competent and experienced teachers, the progressive type who are interested in their profession, have no difficulty in making up work for high school positions, which offer better pay.

The task of teaching adolescents is more difficult and requires a greater expenditure of energy than that of teaching older pupils.

Invariably, the pupil-period load in junior high school is more burdensome than in the senior grades.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Revelation of a "cripple factory," where "armless persons" and "hunchbacks" are made to order was made in court by Arthur Williams, who had been arrested while begging on an elevated station. His right arm was skillfully bandaged and taped to his right side.

It will be completed in September, and will be thrown open as a refuge home to nameless men of misfortunes, through the philanthropy of an unnamed San Francisco business man.

The gift was tendered that the donor's identity should be kept in confidence. It was accepted by St. Patrick's parish and the St. Vincent de Paul society, on behalf of the homeless men who will inhabit it.

A scene from "Secret Orders," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater.

YOST THEATER
What would you do if you had but one year to live?The question is asked you in the "One Year to Live," the picture now showing at the Yost theater.And the movie obligingly answers, indirectly, by vividly depicting the plight of a beautiful girl whose physician tells her she has but one year to live.It is a sensational theme, and is reported by pre-view critics to have been well carried out by an elaborate cast which includes Aileen Pringle, Antonio Moreno,
Dorothy Mackail and other favorites.The scenes are laid in Paris, and have been given the glitter and glamor popularly associated with the gay night life of the French capital.

WEST COAST-WALKER

The bewildering maze of intrigue that held the world in its grip during the Great War, while diplomats, secret agents, officers of the armies and navies of all nations vied with one another in the great game of wits behind the flaming barriers of the trenches, forms the vivid background of "Secret Orders," Evelyn Brent's newest mon-odrama at the West Coast-Walker theater.Evelyn Brent as a girl secret service operative, ferreting out the coveted secrets for which the elaborate spy systems of the world were groping, has what is rated as one of the best roles of her career.
It is an interesting departure from the crook characters in which she has achieved fame; although possessing all the vibrant and colorful atmosphere of the underworld heroines on which she has bestowed her talents in the past.Aileen Pringle who plays in "One

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

In "Volcano!", the picture which opened at the Yost Broadway theater last night, William H. Howard, its director, comes through with another winner. You will remember him as the same man who produced
"The Thundering Herd," acclaimed as one of last year's best films."Volcano!" which features Bob Daniels, Ricardo Cortez and Wallace Beery, in addition to having a fine supporting cast, in good melodrama and will more than satisfy movie fans. The screen play was written by Bernard McConville from Laurence Eyre's stage success,
"Martinique."Bebe is splendid as the little French girl, who leaves her convent in Brussels to return to Martinique, a West Indian island, where her father is dying. On arriving, she discovers him dead, and not knowing where to turn, Bebe goes to the home of a woman who bears her name. Madame informs Bebe that she is not her daughter, and the only place to go is to the Quarter.Have No Bananas;
Fare $8500 SuitSAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—
"Yes, We Have No Bananas" was sung in a legal song filed in federal court by the Lee-Dias Banana Export company, of San Francisco, against the German steamer Justin.
The complaint recited that at Crist-obal, Canal Zone, the Justin took aboard 4500 bunches of bananas consigned to the local firm. While in voyage, the refrigerator rooms were opened, it is alleged, and flooded with unchilled air. The bananas spoiled and were dumped overboard near Los Angeles. The Lee-Dias company seeks $8500 for loss of the fruit.

IS BOOSTED IN CURRENT YEARSACRAMENTO, June 16.—Due to increased industrial activity, the state's income during the current year from taxes on public utilities, banks, insurance companies and general corporate franchises will exceed $43,000,000, or approximately $2,000,000 more than in 1925.
This estimate was made by the state board of equalization, which announced that the revenue from such sources will be swelled some $12,000,000 by taxes derived from inheritances, fees and licenses collected by the secretary of state, in interest on deposits of state funds in banks, fees of the supreme and appellate courts and by miscellaneous receipts.Revenue requirements of the state for the fiscal year July 1, 1926, to June 30, 1927, were fixed by the 1925 legislature at $52,000,000.
Rail Earnings Increase.The state board of equalization stated that its analysis shows that earnings of steam railroads increased $4,248,211.17 in 1925, compared with a decrease of $13,643,209 in 1924, so that the tax on these utilities has increased $297,374.66
this year.Electric railways show a continued decrease in earnings, to the extent of a loss of $1,330,198.01 in receipts, compared with the year preceding. The state will collect $63,835.38 less from such lines than it did last year.Telephone and telegraph companies and light, heat and power corporations show a more substantial increase in business than any other public utilities. Light, heat and power companies will pay $10,- 510,424.44 in taxes, while telephone and telegraph companies will be assessed for $3,290,779.66. Steam railroads, the heaviest tax payers, will be assessed for $12,425,853.18.

State Bank Business Grows.

Business of state banks shows a

CONSIDER WAY TO COPE WITH TRADE COMBINE

BY C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 16.—With all Europe organizing into cartels and gigantic combinations for the purpose of better competing with the United States mass production, administration leaders are beginning to give serious consideration to a liberalization of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Dr. Julius Klein, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, recently placed before Secretary Hoover evidence of the exchange of patent rights and of skilled employees and other trade concessions by the European manufacturers who are competing with the American export trade.

What the administration leaders are thinking of is how the American standard of living, with the highest wages in the world, can be maintained in the face of the low wages and combinations of Europe now being formed against the United States, unless the American manufacturer is allowed to combine in opposition to this new competition. The Sherman anti-trust law now forbids this sort of combination and yet industrial organizers all over the world realize that only with large combinations of capital, labor and brains, can a nation's foreign trade survive.

Chairman Sinnott, of the house public lands committee, has agreed to an amendment proposed by California interests to his bill, H. R. 11890, relinquishing any claims of the United States to mineral rights in lands that have been deeded to the states for the advancement of public schools.

The proposed California amendment places the jurisdiction of administering disputes into the hands of the federal courts, instead of the secretary of the interior, as originally provided in the bill.

Immensely rich land containing oil and mineral deposits are believed to be involved. These lands after having been transferred to the states, for school purposes were sold and later were discovered to contain rich mineral and oil deposits. It is to quiet title to these lands that the bill was introduced. The California interests believed the amount involved is so great that disputes arising should be settled in the federal courts instead of the department of the interior.

One of the troublesome difficulties met with in administering the law governing naturalization would be eliminated in a bill introduced by Representative Albert Johnson, defining what is meant by continuity of residence in the United States.

The law specifies that a candidate for citizenship must have lived in this country for five years continuously. At the same time the department has held that an alien may be absent from the country during this five-year period and still meet the requirements of the law by merely maintaining his legal residence here. Oftentimes an alien makes several trips to his country during this five year probationary period and sometimes they stay for months or even years, although still legally residents of the United States.

The Johnson bill specifies that an applicant for citizenship shall meet the continuity of residence clause only by actual residence. One temporary absence from the United States is permitted which must not extend over six months.

Washington is grinning over the story of an informal meeting of a score of senators recently, at which it was proposed to take a secret ballot on the question of who was the most useless senator. When the tellers had counted the ballots, they reported the vote to be a tie between Senators Borah, of Idaho, and Reed, of Missouri.

The balloting was said to have been influenced by the opinion of the voters that neither Borah nor Reed has any constructive legislation to their credit and that their efforts generally are directed at criticism.

President Coolidge has been invited to California this summer and to address the state conference of the California Real Estate association, which will meet at Del Monte, October 13 to 16. The president is considering the invitation, which was extended through Senator Shortridge. The president has given no intimation that he will go west this year. In case he cannot make the trip, Senator Shortridge suggested that he send an appropriate message to the California realtors.

Representative Florence P. Kahn has accepted an invitation from the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, to make an address on the subject, "Women in Politics," at a date to be fixed later, following the adjournment of congress. The Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce is one of the few commercial organizations in the country that accepts women as members and it has what is considered the largest membership of women in the country.

Congressman Lea's bill, providing for the most unique game preserve in the country, has been passed by the house and sent to the senate for action. Lea's bill provides for a game preserve free of game warden. It sets aside 50,000 acres of the best game land in California for hunting and fishing purposes. The land is all public land in Lake and Mendocino counties, now widely known throughout the west as the hunting paradise.

OBJECTS TO UNION OF COSTA MESA WITH NEWPORT BEACH

Editor Register: I see that petitions are being circulated to annex Costa Mesa to the city of Newport and that this is being done at the suggestion of the officials of the city of Newport. Why this great haste immediately after the election and without calling a public meeting in Costa Mesa to let the common people be heard? Is somebody going off half-cooked without careful consideration? Shall we sign in haste and repent at leisure?

Let the south half of Orange county get busy at once and start this harbor, but let a public conference be held.

Whenever the time is ripe, Costa

Mesa may be annexed to Newport or any other city. We have street lights, we don't need police for we haven't got any crime except auto speeding and we have an officer on the road. Our fire insurance is not any higher than Newport. We are located on an elevation and have a sandy subsoil and don't need sewers. We have gas, electric light and good water and can get all the paving we want by paying for it.

In case Newport city had an earthquake and its public utilities were displaced or destroyed, we would have help for them if we joined Newport, but an earthquake or a fire would not do near the damage on the mesa that it would do in Newport.

In the name of common sense, why should we invite the officials and the city attorney of Newport to ride on our financial backs?

We are for the harbor until the Plutonian regions are jammed with icebergs, but we are not yet ready to give a blushing yes to Newport's proposal for municipal matrimony.

JAMES DUFFY,
Newport Boulevard, Costa Mesa.

CONFIDENCE VOTED

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 16.—The chamber of deputies has approved a motion of confidence in the government's Taena-Arica policy.

JAPAN CENSOR CLAMPS LID ON NEWS OF KOREA

TOKIO, June 16.—The censor is at work in Korea and hardly any information is permitted to be published here. The censor is at work here, too, and the police authorities have forbidden publication of any news regarding Korea unless authorized by officialdom.

Before the police prohibition went into effect, however, there had been sufficient made public to show that all is far from well in the former Hermit kingdom. A Japanese Christian minister, who returned recently from Seoul, declares that the entire peninsula is under police or military control, mounted gendarmes and mounted police being on duty night and day, especially in the larger cities. Frequent attacks on Japanese in the interior are almost a daily occurrence, he added.

Koreans Aflame with Vengeance

The Koreans, according to reports reaching the vernacular paper, are aflame with a spirit of vengeance. The causes are many, but the immediate reason for the new recalcitrancy is traceable to the interference by the police of the Korean custom of mourning in public for the late Emperor Prince Yi and to the personnel of the state funeral committee. The Japanese government invited a number of Korean peers to be members of the committee, but strife broke out among them and one faction immediately resigned.

This was followed by a country-wide royalist movement, which is believed to have been instigated by the independents. Police control was immediately resorted to, but thus far, the severer the police control the more serious became the popular excitement.

The state funeral was held on June 10.

Try to Keep Prince at Home

A Tokio daily, generally accurate in its information, has the following report on the situation in Korea:

"A group of influential Koreans also are trying to retain Prince Yi in Korea and are trying not to allow him to return to Tokio. Members of the Korean nobility are believed to be involved in this movement, the leaders of which declare that they are suspicious of Japan's policy in insisting that Prince Yi make Tokio his official residence.

"The independence movement has leaped to life again, and matters are taking on an atmosphere similar to what prevailed in Korea in 1919. There are various movements of a character liable to disturb the public peace, such as the restoration of the royal house of Korea and the like. A very gloomy atmosphere is hovering over the peninsula."

President Coolidge has been invited to California this summer and to address the state conference of the California Real Estate association, which will meet at Del Monte, October 13 to 16. The president is considering the invitation, which was extended through Senator Shortridge. The president has given no intimation that he will go west this year. In case he cannot make the trip, Senator Shortridge suggested that he send an appropriate message to the California realtors.

Amendment to Limit Campaign
Expenses Urged

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Amendment of the constitution to limit primary and election campaign expenditures to $10,000 for senators and $5000 for representatives was proposed by Representative Rubey, Democrat, Missouri. He introduced a resolution to submit to the states an amendment giving congress the power to regulate campaign expenditures.

HEALS ALL SKIN ILLS

Zemo Soothes, Heals, Gives Instant Relief

All skin troubles quickly disappear with the use of Zemo. Often single application heals blemishes over night. Zemo is a cleansing antiseptic liquid that penetrates below the surface and quickly removes the dirt, dead skin and all skin sores and eruptions. It does not show and is ideal for daylight use. For overnight application use Zemo ointment. Zemo has the same healing and soothing properties.

As a preventive of skin troubles use Zemo soap, antiseptic, fragrant; will keep your skin clean and cool.

32 MOTORISTS LOSE PERMITS DURING MONTH

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 16.—Ninety-five motorists who tried to mix booze and gasoline are trying walking as a result of license revocations made since January 1. In 1925, 86,000 vehicles, which are natural enemies of the mealy bug, were distributed in 312 infested groves. Excellent results were obtained. This year, 68,000 beetles have been distributed in 200 acres of groves and almost of the 640 acres of infested territory will be covered before winter, Tuthill declared.

Twenty-seven of the 32 licenses revoked during May were withdrawn because of charges of drunkenness. Revocations for the month include:

Driving while intoxicated—Willis C. Allen, Colton; Andrew Engston, Corona; Percy Gardner, Redlands; Foster Gillespie, Wineville; Frank L. Phillips, Colton; E. C. Swaffield, Beaumont; Herman Wyatt, Daggett; P. V. Collier, Long Beach; Joseph Nixon, Los Angeles; Harry Senter, Los Angeles; C. H. Wilcox, Los Angeles; George O. Strand, San Diego; Harold V. Holland, San Diego; H. C. McCaulay, Modesto; H. W. McKendree, Modesto; Frank Martin, Modesto; Theodore H. Thorston, Modesto; Manuel Gaynor, Broderick; Ralph Thompson, East Bakersfield.

Canceled by request of parents and by courts—Fay Guyon, Buena Park; Robert N. Menzie, Anaheim; Elmer Phelps, Camino.

Habitual use of intoxicants or physical disability—T. C. Morris, Elsinore.

STUDENTS GET AWARDS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 16.—Robert W. Dozier, of Pasadena, Calif., and J. C. Heraper, of Fremdale, Mich., have been awarded the Emory R. Clark prize for 1926, the Harvard University business school announced. The award is made for the best report on a problem in retail store management.

Both plants will begin on apricots and remain in operation at full capacity until the end of the peach

Our Neighbors

RIVERSIDE—One hundred and fifty thousand cryptolaemus beetles, alias lady bugs, have been distributed from the Riverside county growers' insectary since its founding in 1924. This was disclosed in a report on the insectary by E. G. Tuthill, superintendent. Propagation of the beetles was brought about through the presence of mealy bugs (diptophilus) in groves in the Riverside district. In 1925, 86,000 beetles, which are natural enemies of the mealy bug, were distributed in 312 infested groves. Excellent results were obtained. This year, 68,000 beetles have been distributed in 200 acres of groves and almost of the 640 acres of infested territory will be covered before winter, Tuthill declared.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA—

—BY REDNER

In the spring and summer of 1864, Custer's brigade was attached to Sheridan's Cavalry Corps, with which he served in the campaigns in Virginia and the subsequent operations in the famous Shenandoah valley. "The Boy General," as Custer was nicknamed, was then placed in command of the Third Division of Sheridan's corps, and he added to his laurels through more victories.

He was breveted major general of volunteers on October 19, 1864, for his services. This was when he was but a youth of 25 years.

Custer then led in the defeat of General Early, at Waynesboro, and took part in many of the engagements of Grant's last campaign.

After several months' service in Texas during the winter of 1865-66, he became lieutenant colonel of the Seventh Cavalry. In '67 and '68 he gained his first experience as an Indian fighter in General Hancock's campaign against the Cheyennes, bringing the campaign to a successful conclusion by a decisive defeat of the Indians.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by Allene Summer

Daughter, Orates

"My Mother From a Child's Viewpoint" was the subject given 12-year-old Ellen Elizabeth Benson, world's brightest child, on which to speak before a metropolitan Business and Professional Women's Club. A bully idea, this. If more children were encouraged to "rise right up in meeting" and tell what they think of their parents, that profession might be greatly reformed. As is, children have never been trained to endure in silence, and grow bitter and rebellious inside at injustices of parents.

More on Summer Reading!

Today is promised a list of "meatier" summer books than those given yesterday—the books you "ought to read," the books that will improve your mind, give your club conversational food—

Try "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" by Dorsey; "New Decal of Science," by Wiggin; "Our Times" by Mark Sullivan; "The Mauve Decade," by Thomas Beer; "Microbe Hunters," by Paul de Kruif; "The Voyage of the Arcturus," by Beebe; "Some Washington Ladies," by Meade Minnigerode; Carl Sandburg's "The Prairie Years"; "Memories," by Dame Melba; "Book on Marriage," by Count Kreysler.

The Scarf's the Thing

It all depends on how, the scarf is tied this year. The same old scarf of yesteryear which flew airily 'neath the coat, may become a modish thing of beauty if tied into a stock effect, a four-in-hand, or a soft and jaunty bow at the side. Even the old Deauville scarf manner of wearing it swaggers like a la bandana is seen in sport frocks.

Wages and Papas

Papa should be given a higher wage than the man without children, according to Professor Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago. He believes that married men with children are underpaid today and that bachelors and married men without children are being overpaid. This would mean a wage slash for most workers, as only 22 per cent of them are workers with children. Make your own comment.

I would opine that this would work for the glorification of parenthood only and the ignoring of human functions which contribute fully as much or more to the movement of the race. Count up our bachelor public servants who, penalized for lack of children by low incomes, would have been deprived the opportunity of education and leisure permitting them to perfect their art or business and thus contribute to the world. A kid or so is nice. But so is a great book or painting or law.

Hair Bleach

Many a blonde has startled her friends who said goodnight to her, by saying goodmorning to them as a gorgeous red-gold blonde. The answer is "peroxide bleach." One can always be spotted. Take it two ways. But a combination of equal quantity of peroxide and ammonia can bleach out superfluous hair, making it almost unnoticeable.

Her Boy

"My boy is handy with tools, and his father and I think that if we let him learn right he might do good things along designing lines. Do you know of any book told in child's language that would interest him in furniture making?"

I do! "Carpentry for Beginners," by Adams; "Makers of Many Things," by Tappan; "When Mother Lets Us Carpenter," by Adams.

Light Menus

For a table party menu, any of these combinations work as well as the w. k. ham and eggs or pork and beans: Tomato rabeat, sautéed, pickles, coffee; baked beans, Boston brown bread, olives, cheese, crackers, coffee; shrimp salad, sautéed, salted nuts, coffee; creamed chicken in pastry shells, potato chips, sweet pickles, coffee.

UNUSUAL TRIMMING

An attractive coat of gray twill has ruffles of pleated silk of the same color that run from wrist to elbow. Ribbon also binds the coat and forms the upstanding collar.

ECONOMY OF FUR

Advance models in furs show many wool coats in which patches and fancy pockets of fur are used very interestingly.

THE STICKY MORNING KISS

A sticky face upraised to mine, All smeared with toast and strawberry jam, With eyes that radiantly shine, And pleased to kiss that face I am.

Straight from the breakfast room she comes,

A napkined, laughing little miss Who gives no thought to jam or crumbs,

But wants her daddy's farewell kiss.

SHINY NOSE

A shiny nose is due to several things, but the one which can be most easily treated is the actual oily condition of the skin, which produces the shine. The deeper reason for this should be treated, too—it will probably be a matter of diet and bathing, perhaps of blood purifying tonics.

One easy treatment is powdered oatmeal. Little cardboard cartons often with sifters tops, can be purchased from fifteen cents to a dollar, according to size. It is nothing but oatmeal powdered very fine into a dry meal, sometimes scented and sometimes not. I don't believe you can make a real powdered oatmeal yourself, though you can make a fair imitation by running the ordinary breakfast oatmeal several times through a meal grinder with the smallest blade screwed on.

But for treating a shiny nose, you should, if possible, have the finely powdered kind. First wash the face with hot water to relax and open the pores. Then take a little of the oatmeal on your fingers and rub it into the skin all over the nose and especially around the nostrils. Wet the fingers and rub in more oatmeal. Rinse out with hot water and then rinse with cold to close the pores. And then powder the face. Do this daily for a few weeks and I think the condition will be overcome.

The oatmeal absorbs all the extra oil in the skin, and brings it out with it when the face is rinsed. It also takes out a lot of dirt and other matter that may be clogging and enlarging the pores, and even if the nose is not shiny, it is a marvelous blackhead treatment.

A Model—You would be taking a very great risk to drop any lotion into your eyes that causes an unnatural effect of brightness. It is all right to bathe the eyes when they are dull from being overwork-

Cynthia Grey Says:

NEATNESS IS NOT ALWAYS A VIRTUE IN EYES OF HUSBANDS; HOME IS A PLACE TO BE COMFORTABLE.

By CYNTHIA GREY

Early marriage is in many ways a good thing. But it does cause many matrimonial problems to seem larger than they really are, because young people have not acquired the necessary perspective on life.

"Perplexed Bride" has run into one of these mope hills that seem like mountains to inexperienced eyes, and she has let it get the best of her.

Her problem is that she is "too good a housekeeper." Her husband, instead of appreciating her efforts to make his home neat, objects to her vigilance and says she is making the house uncomfortable as a hotel.

Won't Hang Up Clothes

"Can you see why he doesn't like his home to be neat and clean, Miss Grey?" He doesn't even want to hang up his clothes when he takes them off, and his cigarette stubs are all over the place.

"My mother taught me to be a good housekeeper, because good housekeepers make good wives, she said. I don't understand why it doesn't work in my case."

That's because there are no rules that will fit every marriage. Good housekeeping is certainly an asset in any household, if it doesn't go to extremes.

The great majority of men, I am convinced, much prefer the calm, easy-going kind of wife who doesn't go into hysterics over a cigarette stub or lose her temper when the Sunday papers get thrown around.

Older women acquire this knowledge of masculine nature, and wisely adapt themselves to it. Younger women, like "Perplexed Bride," are non-plussed by it.

One thinks that any young wife should remember is that a man usually regards a home of his own as a refuge from the inhospitable and uncomfortable boarding houses in which he spent his single days, or from his parents' home, which may have been unpleasant by too many restrictions.

Place to Be Lazy

He takes a certain delight in using his own home as he pleases—in relaxing there and being as lazy as possible—in throwing his clothes about and dropping ashes without fear of a landlady to "bawl him out!" When he finds his new wife beginning the same tactics of criticism, he is hurt and disappointed.

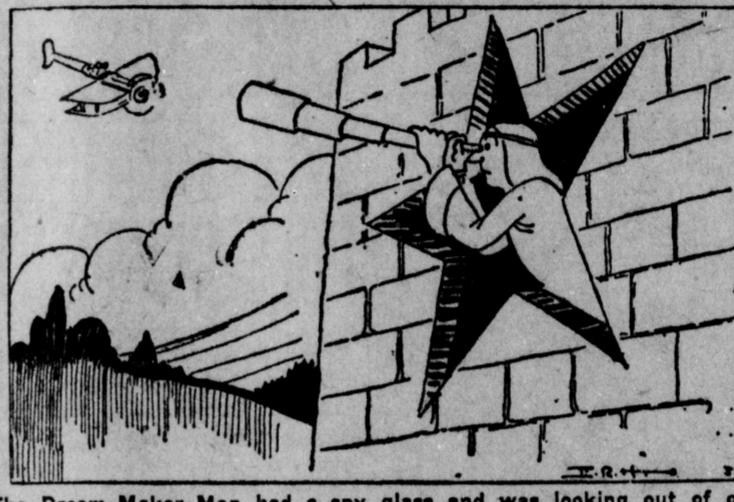

The wise wife will try to let him have his own way so far as she can, if she wishes him to regard his home as the most delightful place in the world.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NO. 15—THE HOUSE WITH SEVEN POINTED TOWERS

The Dream-Maker-Man had a spy glass and was looking out of one of his star-shaped windows.

When the Twins reached Misty Hill in Drowsy Land, they knew just what to look for. The Fairy Queen's letter had said, "The Dream-Maker-Man lives in a castle with seven pointed towers."

"Righto!" said Snore, again. "Righto! Snooziesnugglesnore was godfather to all of us, so each of us got a third of his name. But if you wish to go to the castle on top of the hill, get into my airplane and I'll take you there. There is no path because thewes would come up and steal the dreams Father makes."

So Nancy and Nick got into the airplane and Snore got into the front seat and away they went right up the hill toward the castle with seven towers.

The Dream-Maker Man had a spy glass and was looking out of one of his star-shaped windows. He had seen everything that went on.

As the Twins approached he waved a green handkerchief to show how glad he was to see them.

The airplane settled down on a wide porch, and they all got out. In half a minute, there was the Dream-Maker Man himself, shaking hands with them, also his other two sons, Snooze and Snuggle.

"So you came all the way to Misty Hill to see me about your lost friends!" said the Dream-Maker Man when Nick had told him his story.

"Yes, sir," said Nick.

"That was right!" That was right!" said their host. "The moon is full of queer countries and queer cities. You could never find Inc and Flops without my help. 'I'll do what I can."

Experiments with Segers-trom Plot Proves Reclamation to Be Feasible

New Method of Fumigation to Be Demonstrated

Farmers who have been looking for a simpler and less expensive method of fumigation will be interested in a demonstration that will be held at Garden Grove, Wednesday evening, June 16.

At this meeting the use of powder dusting as a substitute for the well known liquid gas method will be demonstrated. The cyanide manufacturers have been experimenting on this method of fumigating for some months and believe they have something definite to report.

The demonstration will be conducted under the auspices of the Garden Grove M. O. D., the farm bureau co-operating. The Glenn Bowers tract selected for the experiment is west of the Garden Grove high school. All interested persons are invited to attend Wednesday evening, June 16, at 7:30 o'clock.

CABBAGE WORM CAN BE ROUTED BY ARSENICALS

The common cabbage worm, the most destructive insect enemy of cabbage and related crops, is best controlled by spraying with lead arsenic or calcium arsenate, says the United States department of agriculture in a publication just issued entitled, "The Common Cabbage Worm and Its Control."

This pest is a yellow-green caterpillar about one and one-fourth inches in length, and is the larva of a white butterfly well known to most farmers.

The worm would cause much heavier losses, according to the bulletin, but for a number of natural enemies, among the most important being certain wasp-like parasites or four-winged flies, the immaturity forms of which feed within the body of the caterpillar.

In the season the worm attacks the cabbage, riddling the outer leaves as they form, frequently feeding within the immature heads, which are rendered unfit for food. Sometimes it cuts out the "bud" from the young plant, thus preventing development of the head.

Arsenical poisons may be applied in dust form rather than as a spray by mixing the powder with hydrated or air-slaked lime, lead plaster, dusting sulphur or cheap, light, finely pulverized material which will adhere to the cabbage leaves. Although dusts are more easily and quickly applied than sprays, they do not always distribute the poisons as evenly and, unless the dusting is done when the plants are wet, they do not stick as well.

Get Splendid Results

The results obtained in the way of leaching out of salts were most startling and satisfactory. The fondest dreams of those who were working on the problem were more than realized. Of the $350 parts per million of chloride present in the first foot before leaching, only two hundred parts remained. Likewise, the 18,000 parts of sulfate were leached down to 1,600 parts, part of this latter being in combination with calcium to form gypsum, which is a beneficial rather than a harmful substance. The figures given also held true for other levels, except in the case of the fifth foot, where the ground water level stood. In that water was found a high percentage of salt, but at that depth it could not possibly harm the crops commonly grown there.

These plots are now planted to Lima beans, with a stand estimated at 75 to 80 per cent three weeks after planting. Whether or not this crop will grow and mature is not known, but it looks encouraging at the present time. Lima beans are very susceptible to alkali injury, consequently we are sure that any other crop such as alfalfa, barley or corn would do very well there.

The operations described above took about one hundred days to carry out, at a cost of $15.80 per acre to the owner. Most of the cost was for man, horse and tractor labor, about half of the total being for the latter item.

KADOTA FIG IS BULLETIN TOPIC

The division of subtropical horticulture of the University of California college of agriculture has just prepared, in mimeographed form, Circular No. 10, covering "The Present Status of the Kadota Fig."

While this is not a new variety of fig, it is being planted in considerable acreages for canning and preserving purposes. There are about 10,000 acres now planted in California and these produce 1025 tons of fruit in 1925, handled by ten canning companies. The subjects of soil requirements, pests, habit of growth, age of production, yields, cost of production, methods of handling, uses, and the outlook for the future are treated briefly in question and answer form.

While the statement is sometimes made that there is no fear of competition in the production of canned figs, this is shown to be mistaken by Condit, since the southern states and especially Texas have considerable acreages planted to figs. The latter state has 13,510 acres of fig trees, producing last year 2500 tons, more than twice the output of California. The Kadota fig is being planted in Mississippi and there seems to be no good reason why it cannot be grown successfully and cheaply in many of the southern states.

Copies of the publication may be obtained from the dean of the college of agriculture, University of California, Berkeley.

'BUG FACTORY' AT ANAHEIM IS TO BE VISITED

Growers of County Invited To See Method of Raising Mealy Bug Enemies

A general invitation has been extended to the citrus growers of Orange county, through the Anaheim Farm Center, to visit the new county insectary at Anaheim, located on Vermont avenue, one-half mile east of Los Angeles street, near the southern end of the city of Anaheim.

The insectary at the present time is propagating millions of beneficial predators, known as cryptolaemus montrouzieri, which are used in the control of the citrus mealy bug, a common pest of the citrus grove in many sections of the county.

The county of Orange has recently taken over the maintenance of the insectary, under the supervision of the horticultural commissioner. This insectary is considered one of the most complete and up-to-date in California at the present time.

The growers will be given an opportunity to see the processes of raising the insects in every stage of their life cycle. Dixon Tubbs, superintendent of the plant, will also show the method of collecting the insects in the propagating rooms and explain how they are distributed throughout the mealy bug infected areas.

All citrus growers are invited to meet at the insectary Thursday afternoon, June 17, at 2 p. m. Among the speakers will be Dixon Tubbs, superintendent; A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, and H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor.

The worm would cause much heavier losses, according to the bulletin, but for a number of natural enemies, among the most important being certain wasp-like parasites or four-winged flies, the immaturity forms of which feed within the body of the caterpillar.

Activities Of Extension Dept. Report Subject

Traveling 8235 miles during the past year to bring the work of the agricultural extension of the University of California to 17,128 citizens of the state is the record made by Dr. O. J. Kern, professor of agricultural education.

Dr. Kern has given 77 illustrated lectures at different centers of the state on rural and agricultural education. Among the lectures which have drawn the greatest crowds are:

"One Way of Community Betterment," an illustrated lecture on gardens and landscaping; this lecture sets forth planting plans, gives lists of things to plant and deals with back yard improvement; "Home and School Gardening," which treats of the educational value in gardening, gives methods of planting and steps in cultivation; "Some Lessons in the Elements of Agriculture and Nature Study"; "School and Home Sanitation and Decoration;" "Community Play and Recreation;" and "The Rural Consolidated School as a Community Center."

These lectures were free to communities and schools, asking for them. The only thing required of the local people was the provision of a lecture room and a stereopticon machine and operator for the use of the university's lecturer.

Dr. Kern is one of the outstanding authorities on agricultural education and is the author of a number of articles and works on the subject. Among those published during the last year are: A series of ten articles on "Building a Temple to Agriculture and Country Life," an article on "Temple Building," an article on "Outdoor Art for the Country School," and a bulletin on "Outlines of Course in Agricultural Nature Study for the Rural Schools of California."

Swine Industry In State Held To Be Low Level

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—Swine raising stands at a lower level in California today than 20 years ago, but "is capable of such expansion that it should produce an income comparable with the citrus industry."

Such is the conclusion reached by Dr. Charles Keane, associate chief of animal husbandry, state department of agriculture. In an analysis of the swine situation made public today, Dr. Keane notes that in 1905 there were 521,284 hogs in California; in 1911, 790,000; in 1916, 947,000; in 1921, 818,000; in 1924, 624,000; in 1925, 582,000, and Jan. 1, 1926, 468,000.

Condition

"This condition is certainly enigmatic," he continues, "for during the same period the state has undergone a remarkable development and there has been a corresponding increase in the number of small farms on which swine raising made public today, Dr. Keane notes that in 1905 there were 521,284 hogs in California; in 1911, 790,000; in 1916, 947,000; in 1921, 818,000; in 1924, 624,000; in 1925, 582,000, and Jan. 1, 1926, 468,000.

As far as can be determined, the worm would cause much heavier losses, according to the bulletin, but for a number of natural enemies, among the most important being certain wasp-like parasites or four-winged flies, the immaturity forms of which feed within the body of the caterpillar.

In the season the worm attacks the cabbage, riddling the outer leaves as they form, frequently feeding within the immature heads, which are rendered unfit for food. Sometimes it cuts out the "bud" from the young plant, thus preventing development of the head.

WALNUT MEN TO MARKET BODIES MEET JUNE 26 OPPOSE HAUGEN NEAR GOLETA FARM MEASURE

Prominent Speakers and Experts on Program to Be Given at Field Day

Announcement comes from the Washington, D. C., June 16.—The Iowa revolt apparently has found no answering echo in California for 35 co-operative organizations with 70,000 members in that state have gone on record as being unalterably opposed to the Haugen bill which was the hobby horse upon which former Senator Brookhart rode to victory.

In a telegram sent to all members of the delegation, signed by R. H. Taylor, executive secretary of the agricultural legislative committee of California, the co-operatives expressed their approval of the Tinker bill.

The unusual behavior of nuts and other fruits, notably peaches, in the south this season is causing considerable speculation among growers and substantial losses in certain sections. Prof. Chandler's work in all parts of the United States has placed him foremost as an authority on rest period problems in trees, and his participation in the program bids fair to draw large attendances from all counties of the south.

This year's field day will be held on Saturday, June 26, at Tucker's Grove, near Goleta. The program will start at 10 a. m. and close at 3:30 p. m. The first portion of the day will be devoted to lectures, the last number to be a tour to neighboring walnut groves to study irrigation problems. Other speakers include R. C. La Rue of the citrus experiment station, Carlyle Thorpe, manager California Walnut Growers association, and W. B. Hooper, experiment specialist in walnut culture from the college of agriculture.

Those attending will be given luncheons, cups and spoons, coffee and ice cream to be served by the Santa Barbara farm bureau and local walnut associations.

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q. I have two questions I want to ask about trees. Are the small brush or so-called scrub oaks really oaks, and what are the cedars one sees so many of between Jacumba and Mountain Springs in San Diego county?—MISS V. L. Y.

A. The scrub oak belongs to the oak family, having characteristic leaves, flowers and fruits (acorns). There are a number of species and varieties of scrub oaks, but all are members of the family or group Quercus.

The low bushes you refer to as cedars are really junipers, this one being the California juniper. These attendings will be given luncheons, cups and spoons, coffee and ice cream to be served by the Santa Barbara farm bureau and local walnut associations.

Q. I have lost a large number of tomato plants in a field just coming into bearing. Here and there all over the field you can pick out plants that are dying. The tomatoes were set early in the spring and so far have apparently not needed irrigation. Can you explain why some plants are dying and not others, and what can be done to save the balance?—L. S. R.

A. Without an actual inspection of injured plants or of the field one cannot give you a definite answer. Two possible and the most likely causes of the trouble will be described, however, and you can see if either fits your case.

Q. Will you please tell me where I can get some wasps for the second crop of caprifigs? Also, when are the Smyrna figs ready to pollinate? Why is it my caprifig tree does not carry figs and wasps over winter?—Mrs. L. R. MRS. L. R.

A. Gummosis of citrus trees is not the disease itself, but a symptom only. The remedy is to carefully scrape away the dead areas of bark, cutting only deep enough to remove all the dead wood. On either edge a cut should be made back into live bark. The gum pockets should all be removed and the surrounding areas scraped. After this work is done, the tree should be painted with a disinfectant, such as Bordeaux paste or carbolineum. If very much of the bark has been affected by the disease it may be necessary to cut back the top to some extent. To prevent reinfection draw the earth away from the crown and do not allow water to stand around it at any time.

Q. Will you please tell me where I can get some wasps for the second crop of caprifigs? Also, when are the Smyrna figs ready to pollinate? Why is it my caprifig tree does not carry figs and wasps over winter?—Mrs. L. R. MRS. L. R.

A. So far as known to the writer there are no commercial sources of blastophaga wasps in Orange county. You might write to the Los Angeles county farm bureau for its list of members and ask them to become dry at any time, but give regular and sufficient irrigation.

The Smyrna figs should be ready to caprifig now, the second crop of caprifigs containing an abundance of wasps for this purpose.

Unfortunately all caprifig trees do not carry the winter crop well and the spring or second crop on such trees has to be reinforced from others. When buying caprifig trees one should get only tested varieties so that there will be no question of the wasps being carried over winter in the fall or winter figs.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

ORANGE BOARD DROPS STREET PROCEEDINGS

ORANGE, June 16.—Vacations with pay totaling more than a year in time were granted to 25 city employees by the board of trustees yesterday at the adjourned meeting of the board. Two weeks for each city employee who has been employed for one year or more were granted. Miss Mabel Reeves, city water rate collector and treasurer, was granted a leave of 60 days.

Because the end of the fiscal year is near, several matters were laid over until the next meeting, July 6. Although approving a letter signed by a committee from the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association requesting that an appropriation of five per cent of the city tax be allocated to the advertising fund, rather than the sum of one-third the occupational tax as now, the actual act of rescinding a former motion naming the amount to be used as one-third the occupational tax was laid over. Similarly, action was delayed in the matter of renewing the contract with the county health department to care for the health and sanitation of the city of Orange. If the contract with the county department is renewed, the city will have to pay out $800 or 10 cents per capita, for the protection, in addition to the county taxes.

Possibility that the $800 would not have to be paid was admitted by W. W. Chandler, county sanitary engineer, who appeared before the board. An attempt to make the service free to all communities in Orange county is being made, according to Chandler.

A decision was reached by the board to call for bids on road oil. From one to six cars are to be advertised for at a maximum price of $600 per car. Bids will be opened July 6.

All proceedings against property owners in the vicinity of Almond avenue and Bush street for the opening of the streets were ordered dropped by the board, following a report by a special investigating committee composed of trustees Alfred Leach and John Eggers. The report conveyed the idea that the property owners are very much opposed to the street openings.

The same committee was named to hire an attorney to assist City Attorney L. F. Coburn in the matter of fixing liability for damage done, should Santiago creek overflow during the high water season. The committee also was empowered to employ engineers and subpoena witnesses in the matter.

The property owners on the west side of North Lemon street, between West Chapman avenue and Maple avenue, will be given 90 days to construct sidewalks, according to action taken by the board. The Pacific Electric railway is the principal owner in the section designated.

The street committee was instructed to investigate the possibility of having the construction sheds removed from the sidewalk on West Maple avenue next to the theater building upon which building operations have ceased.

Trustee Leech asked that boulevard stops be installed at certain through boulevard intersections and that four traffic buttons be installed at street corners in place of the one now in use. No action was taken on the matter.

Water connections will be made for Albert Struck from the Batavia and Collins street water line and for Lincoln Bennett from a North Main street line, by decision of the board yesterday. Struck is outside the city limits, while Bennett demanded connection from a West Chapman avenue main.

Judge Gets "Mystery" Pay Warrant

ORANGE, June 16.—Does San Bernardino make a practice of sending pay checks to officials of other cities? It would seem that way, according to Recorder G. W. Ingle, who is in receipt of a check for $99.88 from San Bernardino.

Very plainly the word "salary" is written on it. Judge Ingle admits complete mystification, as he was never employed by the city of San Bernardino. Yet his name with the title he is known by, is boldly typed on the warrant. To make the paper more binding, it is signed by the mayor and the clerk of San Bernardino.

CHICKSAN LEASES YORBA LINDA LAND

YORBA LINDA, June 16.—The Chickson Oil company, which has for some time had under lease the three acres owned by M. F. Hoben on South Lakeview avenue, near Yorba Linda lake, has taken a lease on three acres of the Gabriel S. Goodmanson ranch, at the intersection of Highland and Mariposa avenues. The land lies south of Yorba Linda at the top of the DeBerry hill, and adjoining land held under lease by the Union Oil company in the Yorba Linda group lease.

Whether a well is to be started there soon has not been decided.

The land was formerly in the Y. L. group lease but was quit claimed, due to a drilling clause which would have forced the Union to put a well on the property. Adjoining land is under lease to the Union and Standard companies. The new lease lies a short distance north of the Yorba Linda group No. 9 well which is now ready to be brought in. Casing has been set for the deep sand and it is hoped to have the well on production this week.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, June 16.—Miss Marjorie Travers, student at Pomona college, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Travers.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Manshardt are entertaining his brother, who lives in Texas.

Mrs. Barbara Carrow, George Key and daughter, Grace, of Fullerton, visited Mr. and Mrs. James Huntley on Sunday.

Miss Margaret Key and Mrs. Ralph Davis, who are spending some time at Newport Beach, are at home with their mother, Mrs. May F. Key, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Jerome were in Los Angeles on Sunday to visit Mrs. H. S. Jerome's brother, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Krick are spending some time at the J. E. Scott ranch at Escondido.

Mrs. J. E. Donald and children left today for Santa Paula, where they will join Mr. Donald. They will make their home there.

The Caivary church's Sunshine Sunday school class will hold a picnic at the county park on Friday, from 9 to 11:30 o'clock, beginning July 7 and concluding July 30. The school is free to any boy or girl in the community. There will be a kindergarten department for the little folks.

Concrete Is the Aristocrat of Pavements

Glendale Paves San Fernando Road With Concrete

Once a dusty trail trod by the Franciscan Fathers, Glendale's main thoroughfare is now a heavy concrete pavement—ranging in width from 40 to 66 feet.

In fact, San Fernando Road for a stretch of nearly five miles is one of the finest paved streets in California.

It was laid in accordance with the most advanced practice of highway building, and has super-strength that will withstand the heaviest floods of pounding traffic.

It is firm, rigid, true and unyielding. It will remain so year in and year out.

Safe to drive on in all seasons, it also has the pleasing light gray surface that is so popular with motorists and property owners everywhere.

Other communities will find it worth while to remember that Glendale and forty other alert cities of Southern California have already laid hundreds of miles of concrete streets.

Property owners and local authorities can get the detailed story of Glendale's modern paving by writing this office. Also ask for your copy of our free booklet on "Concrete Streets."

ANAHEIM NUT GROWERS GET POOL PAYMENT

ANAHEIM, June 16.—Checks aggregating approximately $6000 are today being received by Anaheim walnut growers interested in the shipments made this year through the Anaheim Walnut Growers' association, a subsidiary of the California Walnut Growers' association, Walter Ross, manager of the local house, announces.

Payment of this amount represents the second and final settlement for first pool shipments as authorized by the board of directors of the central association at the regular annual meeting held in Los Angeles last Thursday.

First payment on the pool was made to local growers in December and totaled approximately $350,000. This amount represented a payment of 90 per cent gross on the nuts shipped, figured at opening prices, which were exceptionally high, considering the size and condition of the crop.

Work of cracking the cull nuts handled this year is still in progress at the central association's house and no payment will be made on this class of nuts until they are fully disposed of. It is expected that when final payment is made on the culls, the total amount received by Anaheim growers on their season's crop will swell to nearly $375,000. Cull shipments are expected to be made early in July.

The pool payment which growers are now receiving represents one and one-half per cent of the gross value of the season's crop, figured at the opening prices. This, added to the 90 per cent gross received by the growers in December, gives them a total of 91 1/2 per cent return on the gross value of their crops. Expenses of handling the crop took an additional five per cent, leaving but three and one-half per cent as the year's loss due to the association's inability to dispose of the unusually large crop at the exceptionally high opening prices.

Mr. Ross reported.

"No advance estimate of this season's crop has yet been completed but indications are that it will fall below 40 per cent of last year's crop," said Mr. Ross.

A survey of crop conditions in the Anaheim district is expected to be made within the next few weeks, it is announced.

Anthony Joyce, manager of the Souvenir shop, attended the graduation of his daughter, Elizabeth, from Immaculate Heart college, Los Angeles. Miss Joyce and her mother are leaving soon for Philadelphia for the summer months. Coleman Joyce is at the mission with his father.

Prof. and Mrs. S. E. Swartz, of Wichita, are house guests at the former's niece, Miss Delia Holloway, and Walter Wooland at the Baptist church in Pomona on Thursday evening. Miss Wilma Ward, cousin of the bride, played the wedding march. Mrs. Etta Holloway and daughter are former residents of Garden Grove.

George Rolfe, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Crane and Mrs. Reed attended the veterans' picnic at Huntington Beach on Saturday.

Miss Lella Chaffee, who has been at the Ontario, returned home Saturday for the summer vacation.

Miss Chaffee expects to commence a course at the U. S. C. summer school in about two weeks.

Mrs. Claud Hess and baby, of Wilmington, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Brentlinger.

Mrs. Conrad Oertly and Miss Elizabeth Peters, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Oertly and family, of Long Beach, went Sunday to Camp Baldy, where they will spend a week at the G. Oertly cabin.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Weber, accompanied by Mrs. Emma Weber and daughter, Mrs. E. C. Townsend, of Yorba Linda, left Monday on a two weeks' motor trip to Yosemite.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Nelson, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday at the home of George Rolfe.

UNION PACIFIC MAGAZINE PLANS TO DEVOTE ENTIRE JULY ISSUE TO ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, June 16.—July's issue of the Arrowhead, the official magazine of the Union Pacific Railway company published monthly in the interest of California cities, will be devoted exclusively to Anaheim, George W. Reid, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, announced today.

Decision to co-operate with the railroad company in preparing the magazine was reached at a meeting of chamber of commerce officials and members held in the city hall yesterday. The magazine is printed on high grade paper in colors and contains 40 pages of pictures and reading matter, all of which will be devoted to Anaheim in the July number, it is announced.

The principal distribution point of the magazine is Chicago and more than 30,000 copies will be distributed from that point. Every west-bound train will carry a supply of the magazines, which will be distributed to the passengers.

Work of preparing copy for the publication is now under way.

ANALYSTS APPROVE THREE APPOINTMENTS

ANAHEIM, June 16.—Three appointments made this week, R. W. Jaffray was appointed sanitary inspector and will serve as deputy city marshal and deputy health officer. He will have at his command the enforcement of all laws pertaining to the proper disposal of garbage. He will also be responsible for all sanitary inspections. A remains of the night watchman at the high school, D. L. McAvoy, and of the night watchman on the Bantanchury ranch, J. H. Frazee, was ratified by the trustees. Although the trustees do not hire these two men, their appointments had to be confirmed in order that they might serve in official capacity as night watchmen.

EVENING SALUTATION
Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting seal!

SIGN THESE PETITIONS

The Farm Bureau of Orange County is aiding in the circulation of an initiative petition that every resident of Orange county can sign with a clear conscience. The purpose of the petition is to place upon next November's ballot a measure that, if carried, will make a radical, but advisable, change in California's basis of representation in the State Senate. It is proposed that the basis for districting the state shall be on what is known as the federal basis rather than on population basis.

This proposal has been discussed in the editorial columns of the Register. We have pointed out that the reason for making this change is that without it the complete control of legislation in California will lie with three big cities, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland. The rural counties will get what legislation the big cities want them to have, just that much and no more, and they will be unable to protect themselves against legislation inimical to them.

When we heard that the Farm Bureau organization of the state was fathering a measure to limit the representation any county may have in the state Senate, on the same just principle that the representation in the United States Senate of any state in the Union is limited, we welcomed the movement.

The time has now come for securing signatures of voters so that the measure can appear on the ballot. Orange county, as a county that is vitally interested, ought to turn in a petition with thousands of names upon it. It will take a good deal of work to get these signatures, and a call is issued to citizens who will give a few hours of time to the circulation of the petitions. Anyone who helps will be rendering a public service.

If you can't be a circulator, be a signer. If anyone comes to your door with a Farm Bureau reapportionment initiative petition, if you are a registered voter, sign it. There will be no other initiative measure on the ballot this year of such importance to Orange county as this proposal.

CURBING THE TRUCK

What's to be done with the truck? Are we to continue standing the loss occasioned by the battering of expensive pavements?

Or will we stand supinely by and let the State Legislature give the truck permission to keep on battering?

When truck load limits were established four or five years ago, it was our opinion, expressed at that time, that the load limits and the truck speed limits were too high for the good of the highways. A fast moving truck heavily loaded does more damage than a slow-moving truck would do with twice the load.

But the legislature, aided and abetted by at least one of the automobile associations of the state, failed to see the necessity of cutting down load limits below what they now are and have been since that time. During this period the state and most of the counties have been busy re-building highways that were damaged by heavy traffic. The effort has been to build highways strong enough to stand the loads allowed by the State Legislature.

Evidently, the effort is failing. Evidently, damage by trucking is keeping up with re-pavement. At least, a statement issued by State Highway Engineer Robert M. Morton sounds that way. Morton has this to say:

"Many applications are on file with the railroad commission for franchises to haul by truck parallel to existing railroad facilities. Any convenience or necessity that may exist for the granting of these franchises is far overbalanced by the rapid depreciation of the public's investment in pavements."

"No highway, however well built, can withstand for very long the wear and tear occasioned by continual heavy loads. The loss to the public lies in the vastly increased maintenance expense where truck lines are permitted to operate, and in the danger and inconvenience to the other 99 per cent of the highway traffic."

If as Morton says—and certainly if anyone should know that person should be Morton—truckering is devastating highways, something must be done about it, and done as soon as possible.

The solution to the problem as stated by Morton is obvious. It's this: Reduce the truck load limits to a point where trucking will not damage the highways. And then enforce the law. It is our opinion that the present law has not been adequately enforced in any county in the state, and in that we include Orange county.

If the big automobile associations of the state which have controlled and aim to keep on controlling traffic legislation of all sorts in California will disentangle themselves from the influence of trucks and trucking and seek legislation for the benefit of the ninety-nine per cent of the traffic referred to by Engineer Morton, there will be little difficulty in putting a stop to the damage that Morton tells us about.

SELF-DESTROYING NIAGARA

Billions of gallons of water are running down a big hole in the middle of the Horseshoe Falls at Niagara, on the Canadian side, and doing nobody any good.

They do not even make a good spectacle; the water would serve a more artistic purpose if spread out wider.

Of course it serves no industrial purpose. It is just millions of dollars' worth of water roaring down a sink-hole in a cloud of mist. The hole wears bigger and bigger, and eats back faster and faster. Thus the Canadian Falls are "committing suicide," and by drawing off the water from the other side of the river are drying up the American Falls.

Something ought to be done about it, everybody agrees. That great cataract, fearsome as it is, is not unmanageable. Engineers could tame it, make the water behave, and save the falls for centuries. A joint board of American and Canadian engineers is going to study the question.

Certain engineering works have already been suggested. They would not be prohibitively expensive. The Falls as a scenic treasure would be worth the cost. But rather than let the water run away uselessly as it does now, it had far better be used to turn turbines of industry.

Proper and adequate development of that great natural resource might serve both beauty and utility far better than they are served at present.

France "wants coalition to rescue France." England might try that for coal.

Pollution of Water by Oil

Pasadena Star-News

Pollution of ocean water, inshore, by oil and oily mixtures has become a nuisance well-nigh intolerable, interfering with the comfort and pleasure of sea bathers in many localities. The condition has become so pestiferous and there has been so much complaint and protest about it, that the United States government has taken cognizance of the situation and is endeavoring to bring other maritime countries into agreement to end this nuisance. With this in view, an international oil-pollution conference has been summoned and is in session in Washington.

Eleven maritime nations are represented at the conference. Efforts are being made to work out plans to prohibit effectively the discharge of oil or oily mixtures into navigable waters. Should agreement be reached, the plans and processes agreed upon may be incorporated into an international treaty.

The conference was told that immediate prohibition could not be hoped for—that the problem would have to be worked out gradually, to give operators of vessels time to comply with the prohibitory requirements. But it would be quite gratifying if the conference went so far as to formulate plans which would offer eventual elimination of this pest of the beaches.

The Pacific Coast would welcome an arrangement of this nature. This coast has been protesting oil-pollution of water for a long time. Nothing can be done about it, of course, unless and until the United States government acts—and even the Washington government could not make prohibition effective without the co-operation of other maritime powers, whose vessels come into American harbors.

It is to be hoped that definite relief may come from the conference in Washington.

Our Early Markets

Riverside Enterprise

There is a man at Nogales who claims to have made $100 a day for several months this season shipping ripe tomatoes to the eastern market. His story is that the demand for this early vegetable was greater than the supply at all times because it was out of season. His land is across the border in Mexico where conditions for winter tomatoes appear to be perfect.

Early crops have made the Palo Verde, Coachella and other valleys famous. Their greatest menace is the wide-spread circulation of such information as is given about the so-called Nogales tomato king. Every man who thinks he has good early tomato land and hears a lot about such profits will start raising tomatoes for the early markets next year with a probability that the supply will surpass the demand, resulting in low prices.

The fact remains, however, that the desert valleys of Southern California are adaptable to many early market crops and that as supplies of products increase from year to year it will be possible to extend the demand through advertising and promotion.

The agricultural development of the future will be as carefully planned for its distribution features as it has been along cultural lines in the past.

Useful As Well As Honored

Fresno Republican

Chief Justice William Howard Taft of the Supreme Court of the United States has been ill, but is reported much better.

He has the sympathy of the American people, and the good will. Mr. Taft, as a personality, has been much appreciated by his fellow American citizens. And as a jurist, he has their respect. His unfortunate interlude, as president, has almost been forgotten. He ought never to have been president, and was not happy in the job.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Taft, as president, was supposed to be fated to a very short life. Many in a position to know predicted that he would not fill out his term of office, that the precarious state of his health, added to the drag of his official duties, would surely kill him. Added to these facts, Mr. Taft was one of the most "travelingest" presidents we have had. If there is anything in popular contacts, he gained them.

And now, 13 years after the close of his presidency, Mr. Taft is a very hard working chief justice and a continually useful citizen.

THE DANGER IN WATERS

By the term "dangerous water" is meant any water that may cause illness or death if used for drinking purposes and there are many such waters.

Few realize that millions of deaths have been caused in times past from drinking water that was contaminated with such germs as those of cholera and typhoid fever.

By serving as channels of communication, by furnishing opportunity for recreation and by providing water supplies, streams and lakes rank among the foremost of our natural resources. Not by any means the least useful function of such bodies of water is that of providing healthful recreation in the form of fishing, boating and swimming.

A common-place though important function of water courses is the drainage of surface washings. In many instances, man has used the streams often unwisely as a means of disposing of sewage and industrial wastes.

About the most dangerous form of pollution to which a body of water can be subjected is that of receiving human waste, that is, the discharges from the human body.

Even a very small amount of such pollution becomes a most serious menace, or if you will pardon words, one person suffering from typhoid fever has been known to infect the water supply of an entire city causing hundreds of deaths from this disease.

A short time ago an outbreak of typhoid fever occurred in a small town in one of our middle western states. Upon investigation, it was found that this outbreak was due to a cross-connection which allowed polluted water to enter the mains of the regular drinking water system.

It so happened that a national conference was held in the little town and no less than eight states have since sent in reports of persons who were infected by drinking this water and who developed the disease after they had returned home.

Prejudice Is Pernicious

Dr. Alexander Lyons

Prejudice is a pernicious product of a deficient information in combination with excessive illogic. It judges and condemns in advance of facts and prostitutes principle to passion. It consciously incriminates others and unconsciously inculpates one's self and thus wields the double edged weapon of a two fold curse. It sows animosity and antagonism where patriotism and piety require amity and co-operation.

If you are a good Christian, Jew, or American, you must supplant prejudice with justice, first in yourself and then in others. Judge no group by one of its individuals or any individual before you are properly informed. If you find a man really not as he ought to be, don't straightway damn him and all of his color, country, or creed. Rather be sufficient of a good Christian, Jew, or American to aid him with your example and influence to become what he should. To be prejudiced is to be primitive and pernicious.

A CONQUEROR

Time looked at me

And smiled to think that he had conquered—

He saw the streaks of gray

That lined my darker hair;

He saw my brow, no longer smooth

But year-worn

And that my steps

Were taken with more care.

I looked at Time

And thought that I was vanquished

For there was naught of greatness

Or of fame—

I had but loved

And reared my precious children,

Which would not give to me immortal name.

Then to my soul

There came a glad conviction

That I had triumphed

Had the victory won—

For in that happy service I had conquered

Since they, my progeny, would carry on.

It's time that we're thinkin' 'bout summer-time flies and it's time that we're doin' a heap of things wise. Wherever they're buzzin', therein danger lies. Come on, let's get busy and open our eyes.

A scatty's as handy a thing as can be, but for each one ya swat there's another goes free. Why use all the strength and the vigor you've got a battin' the pests with the swish and the swat.

You'll find, after all, that the way to begin, is through keepin' them out of lettin' them in. When out in the air they can fly as they please for they're too far away to be spreadin' disease.

So, 'ware of the buzzin' that comes night and day. Remember, it's probably sickness at play. Consider the fly, and you'll know what it means to get up ambition and put up your screens.
